A COMMUNITY IN THE BACKCOUNTRY

Alpine Lakes High Camp, spanning over 20 acres and operating off the grid, is a year-round outpost for mountain enthusiasts, while also boasting a 4,600-acre exclusive land lease. It is located in some of Washington's finest backcountry and at the edge of one of the nation's most rugged, picturesque alpine wilderness areas. At an elevation of 5,000 feet and fifteen miles east of Stevens Pass, this retreat comprises nine backcountry cabins, a group lodge, a spring-fed water system, a wood-fired sauna, shower-house, and cold plunge.

Renowned as Washington state's premier backcountry winter lodge and cabins, Alpine Lakes High Camp offers the unique experience of skiing or boarding right outside your cabin door. With a storied history as a backcountry ski/snowshoe and hiking destination for generations of guests, its location provides access to this quiet northeast corner of the Alpine Lakes Wilderness away from the crowds. EXECUTIVE SUMMARY

A LEGACY OF OUTDOOR RECREATION

High Camp has been loved and shaped by countless members of the Cascade community for almost 50 years. Its legendary status among mountain culture has as much to do with its location as with the people who brought it to life and made it thrive.

The eastern Cascade Range backcountry offers the full four-season recreational spectrum from winter backcountry powder skiing, to spring ski tours and mountaineering, to summer hiking and fishing in the lakes, to fall Larch viewing and mushroom foraging. All of that is literally out the cabin doors of Alpine Lakes High Camp.

The Chiwaukum Range is a seldom-visited alpine pocket between the popular Stevens Pass Ski Area, the Bavarian village of Leavenworth, and the permit-only backcountry trails and peaks of the Enchantments. The Alpine Lakes High Camp property offers private access to dozens of miles of trails and cross-country travel leading to over ten alpine lakes where you're unlikely to see anyone other than High Camp guests.

Alpine Lakes High Camp's distinctive backcountry location means even the journey to the cabins itself becomes an adventure—from classic Land Rovers to passenger snowcats, the business has dialed in the operational process, ensuring that guests enjoy their journey up the eight-mile private road to their wilderness retreat.

AN EXCLUSIVE VENUE EXPERIENCE

High Camp's intimate, secluded footprint, with nine cabins, a world-class sauna, shower house, and communal lodge, all located in close proximity, makes it an ideal location for weddings, retreats, family reunions, corporate gatherings, and on-location commercial photo shoots. Few group venues are located in such a pristine, high-elevation setting, eight miles from the nearest paved road, yet with rustic amenities to ensure a memorable, comfortable mountain experience.
